Cornell Wins Big Event in Collegians' Regatta.

ON HUDSON RIVER.

Wisconsin's Freshmen and Syracuse Four-Oared Crew Won in Their Classes—Exciting Finishes.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 27.—Cornell won the varsity eight-oared race in the intercollegiate regatta, for the eighth time, late last evening in the most exciting contest ever rowed over the four-mile Poughkeepsie course. Columbia was second, United States Naval academy third, Pennsylvania fourth, Wisconsin fifth, Georgetown sixth and Syracuse did not finish, her shell being swamped a half mile from the finish line. The Ithacans won by the narrowest margin from Columbia and until the finish line was crossed and the judges announced that Cornell had won, the thousands of spectators were in doubt as to which crew won the victory.

Cornell and Columbia fought for the honors of the race over the whole four miles of the course and at no time during the entire distance were the two shells more than 25 feet apart. Columbia led for over three miles and then Cornell took the lead, only to lose it to Columbia again. In the last 100 feet of the race Cornell by a tremendous spurt shot the nose of her shell out into the lead and swept over the finish under the glare of a big searchlight on board the United States monitor Arkansas, five feet ahead of Columbia. The Annapolis crew rowed a magnificent race and finished two lengths behind Columbia.

Syracuse captured the honors of the varsity four-oared shell from Cornell, Pennsylvania and Columbia, which finished in the order named. Syracuse finished two lengths ahead of Cornell.

Wisconsin won the freshmen eight-oared shell race over the course of two miles, leading Syracuse over the finish line by one length. Pennsylvania was third, Columbia fourth and Cornell fifth. Columbia rowed the last quarter of the mile with an almost waterlogged shell which filled near the stern when three feet of plank was ripped out by striking a submerged log.

The varsity race was postponed until after 7 o'clock on account of rough water. Twenty thousand people saw the races. Secretary of the Navy Metcalf viewed the contest from the gunboat Yankton, while nearly 400 midshipmen cheered the Annapolis crew from the observation train and from the bridge and conning towers of the United States monitors Arkansas, Florida and Nevada, anchored near the finish line.

LIFE ROOT IN ZOA-PHORA

Proof of the Value of This Important Medicinal Agent.

FOR WOMEN

Great Physicians Recommend It for the Cure of Woman's Ills

The National Standard Dispensary is a medical work of nearly two thousand pages, acknowledged as standard authority by the medical profession everywhere. It was edited by such world-famed physicians as Hobart Armore Hare, M. D., professor of therapeutics and materia medica in the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, Henry H. Russell, M. D., of Columbia University, New York and others of equal prominence.

This great medical authority describes the action and use of the best medicines recognized in the pharmacopoeias of the United States, Great Britain and Germany, with numerous references to others. In discussing the properties of Life Root, this best of authorities explains the wonderful action of this medicine on the delicate menstrual organism of women. The remedy favors an increased discharge when the menses are too scanty and painful, and regulates the menstrual function when irregular or too profuse. Notice that the effect is to regulate and restore normal functions of these organs, no matter whether the trouble be suppressed menstruation, or its opposite profuse.

This medical plant, Life Root with others of equal value, are found in Zoa-Phora. Your druggist will supply you with this remedy, already prepared, compounded in just the right proportions, and put up in sealed, sterilized dollar bottles. Ask him for Zoa-Phora—no further explanation will be needed. Each package contains complete and explicit directions for using the medicine, also a copy of "Dr. Penzance's Advice to Women," a little book of great value explaining about the various forms of womanly weakness and diseases and the proper treatment for their cure.

If you desire more information about Zoa-Phora, the Zoa-Phora Company, Kalamazoo, Mich., will cheerfully answer all inquiries. No higher authority regarding the value and use of a medicine is shown than that above mentioned. In addition, and to prove conclusively to the most skeptical, the value of Zoa-Phora, we have the personal experience of Dr. Penzance, the formulator of Zoa-Phora, who used this prescription constantly in his private practice for many years in treating the various diseases and ailments to which the delicate organism of woman is singularly subject.

INHAYWOOD TRIAL

Man Whom Orchard Said Inspired Many Lawless Acts Denies Committing Any Crime.

Boise, Idaho, June 27.—William F. Davis, of Goldfield, Nev., one of the most important witnesses for the defense of William D. Haywood, was called to the stand Wednesday and his cross-examination had not been completed when court adjourned. Harry Orchard testified that Davis commanded the mob that destroyed the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mine in 1899, inspired, as the agent of Haywood and Moyer, the vindicator explosion and the train wrecking plot at Cripple Creek and was an accomplice in the independence strike crime.

On direct examination by Clarence Darrow, Davis made positive denial of every statement of Orchard's that involved him or his associates in any crime. Davis denied that he was even a member of the union when the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mine was blown up. Davis swore that at Cripple Creek during the strike Orchard told him of the Hercules mine affair and threatened to kill Steuenberg.

The cross-examination of Davis by Senator Borah was searching. It was chiefly devoted to the Bunker Hill and Sullivan affair and the circumstances under which Orchard made the threat against Steuenberg. Davis asserted that he remained at Gen. the day the Bunker Hill mill was blown up.

Davis said he remained in hiding after the mill was blown up because he did not want to be deported or thrown into the "bull pen" and that he changed his name when he departed for Butte shortly afterwards, because he feared the mine owners' "blacklist," made up from a petition that the employees of the Bunker Hill had sent to Gov. McConnell, protesting against the unsafety of the mine. Borah showed that the petition had been presented six years before, and that Butte was a federation camp where the blacklist was ineffective.

Mrs. Lottie Day, of Denver, testified that in 1904 Orchard told her about the loss of his interest in the Hercules mine and that he said he would kill Steuenberg for the wrong done him. John D. Elliott, an old soldier, swore that Orchard told him on a train in Idaho in 1905 that Orchard was in the employ of the mine owners and that there was a plot against the federation and its leaders. Cross-examination showed that Elliott had twice been in an insane asylum with a mind unbalanced by family troubles.

Famous Missionary Ship to Be Sold.

After being used for 18 months among the Micronesians group of islands in the South Seas, says the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, the famous ship Morning Star has been taken to Honolulu, where she will be sold at auction.

The Morning Star was bought by the pennies of Sunday school children throughout the country. Her cost was $40,000. The steamship was originally the Shoe City, running between Boston and Lynn.

Eighteen months ago the Morning Star sailed from Boston with a party of missionaries bound for the South Sea Islands. After landing the people the steamship was employed carrying supplies from the various islands and missionary stations, and also in carrying native children to the Christian schools. There are few vessels afloat so well known to seamen as the "Preacher Ship," as she was named.

The reason for selling the steamship is stated to be the cost of operating her. Coal in the South Seas commands a higher price than in more frequented portions of the globe, and the traffic would scarcely justify the board retaining so large a steamship.

Irish Art.

Every nation must have its own art, as distinct and separate from that of other countries as its language; and if ever Ireland is to find her soul and find her own school of art, it can only be done for her by her own artists. BLAMED POOR PUSS

INDIGNANT DINER JUMPED AT CONCLUSIONS.

Crimalkin, Victim of Facetious Waiter's Joke Gave Acrobatic Display For Amusement of Patrons of Restaurant.

A little German restaurant run in connection with a bar in East Twentieth street has a frolicsome waiter who habitually provides much amusement for the patrons, says the New York Press. A few nights ago the waiter cat belonging to the house was sitting on the knee of a man who was eating his dinner, with his face buried behind a newspaper. It was too peaceful a scene for the waiter to let continue.

From his pocket he drew a huge rubber band, and winked at the patrons at nearby tables. All paused to watch what would follow, for the waiter's prowess as a marksman with rubber bands was well known. One evening he had won a bet that he could put out a gas jet across the room at his first shot with a rubber band.

Directly opposite where the man sat with the cat on his knee was a door leading into the room reserved for the restaurant's women patrons. Emile—that's the waiter's name—took up a position in the other room that would enable him to dodge out of sight as soon as he let drive. The eagerly expectant neighbors of the unsuspecting victim of the coming "joke" could not see him shoot, but they observed the results.

The thick rubber band suddenly caught poor puss square in the jaw, and with a fearsome howl of fright and pain she leaped into the air and came down a hissing, spitting, clawing ball of animated fur plump upon the newspaper the quiet diner was holding before his face. In its abrupt agility his leap fully equaled the cat's. His chair went over behind him, and the little round table all but went over in front of him, his glass of beer upsetting and rolling to the floor.

From his breast the cat recoiled, so to speak, to the top of the table, and knocked off a dish or two in her frenzied scramble to get to the floor and escape. The commotion caused all the patrons at the far ends of the room to stand up, and the proprietor came hurrying over from behind the bar. It was then that Emile walked out from the kitchen as innocently as you please.

"What's the matter, Mr. Zimmerman?" he asked with an air of great surprise.

"Matter!" exclaimed the indignant diner. "Why the plaguey cat had a fit!"

Mrs. Siddons at Bargain Counter. Mrs. Siddons was buying some material to make into a dress when, glancing at the time and place, she suddenly exclaimed in a fearful voice: "But will it wash?" making the startled shopman, who thought he must be dealing with a dangerous mad-woman, drop his wares in a panic.
